Code Allocation and Maintenance Group (CAM) – Report

(Agenda item 10)

Document by the International Bureau

1 The CAM consists of members from the UPU-IB, IPC and TPG Post (Netherlands). Its purpose is to allocate codes and maintain code lists pursuant to SB standards.

2 Since the last DCG meeting the CAM has allocated new IMPC codes and made changes to existing codes. Attached as annex 1 are the updates to the IMPC code list made from July to November 2003 for the DCG members' review.

3 Included in annex 1 is the list of 12- and 35-character names (organization/IMPC names) for those organizations who did not reply to the original questionnaire (4850(DOT.PN)1042 of 24 January 2003). The CAM decided on the names and the lists were published on 23 September 2003 and 31 October 2003.

4 A circular letter (No. 4850(DOT.PN)1722 of 13 November 2003) was sent out to all administrations illustrating how the new naming rules, decided by the DCG, should be used. Also included were sample forms (CN31, CN35, CN38, CP84 and CP87) with examples on how the names should be filled in. Administrations were also informed where to find the relevant names on the UPU website and that the 12- and 35-character names would come into effect on 1 January 2004.

5 The CAM also allocated the following:

- S35 Party Identifier to Cayman Islands Post Office: J1CKYA
- S35 Party Identifier to Bermuda Post Office: J1CBMA
- S31 Issuer code to BASF Aktiengesellschaft, Germany: WVS

6 The 2003 session of the CA approved a resolution regarding some new rules on the establishment of ETOEs. The Standards Programme/CAM will have to ensure implementation of this decision through the IMPC code registration system as specified in Technical Standard S34. At time of writing this report, the Standards Programme/CAM had yet to be informed of guidelines to follow when implementing the decision. Please reference POC SB 2003.4-Doc 10 for more information.

7 In November the DCG approved 12 new IMPC codes for USPS for one facility in Jersey City. The request for these 12 codes was sent to the DCG in October resulting in discussions regarding the necessities for allowing more than six codes for the one facility. USPS did provide reasons why it is necessary to have 12 codes for this one facility. One of the reasons they stated was the "need to differentiate flows in our systems not at the human level. The physical location is the same and the codes used for our export dispatches are transparent to the user. The different IMPC codes make it easier for our systems to keep track of the dispatches." It needs to be pointed out that the requested codes cannot be distinguished from the names used, as all the offices have the same names, i.e.: Only the codes make the difference between the offices. Standard S34 currently does not explicitly say that a name of an IMPC has to be unique. Nevertheless this has been the intention of the standards so far.

8 It was decided at the April 2002 Standards Board meeting that all code requests for IMPCs resulting in more than six codes being allocated to one city for one administration should go to the DCG. Many recent allocations by the DCG have been as a result of requests for logical rather than physical divisions between IMPCs (as given above). In the December 2002 DCG meeting it was decided that this kind of logical separation of mail flows can be achieved by using the Standard S8 (Postal dispatch identifier). If necessary, the mail type could be opened up to include bilaterally agreed values in order to facilitate additional segregation of mail flows. A proposal was to have been drafted but, so far, has not materialised.

9 The DCG is requested to discuss this matter and decide if S34 should be modified or if an increasing amount of exceptions to S34 be continued to be made or perhaps another solution that will allow postal operators to adhere to the standards in S34.

10 The Standards Programme has received a number of IMPC code requests from private operators. To allocate IMPC codes to private operators the CAM must first allocate an S35 party identifier. Questions have arisen as to whether/how the CAM should be allocating codes to private operators. The Standards Programme is in the process of consulting with the Economic and Regulators Affairs Directorate on this matter. The CAM would like feedback from the DCG on this matter which will be discussed in agenda item 10, POC SB 2003.4-Doc 10.

11 The DCG is asked to take note of the CAM report and discuss/decide on exceptions being made to S34 with regard to the number or of codes in one area for one postal operator and provide feedback/decisions on allocation of IMPC codes to private operators via POC SB 2003.4-Doc 10.
