*POST*CODE*[®] continues successfully with Remote Work

Due to the COVID-19 pandemic and acknowledging the importance of the health and welfare of staff and their families, the Director General of the Universal Postal Union decided to close UPU's headquarters and instructed the majority of the staff to work remotely.

Since March 16, the UPU has continued to work. The *POST*CODE*[®] team has worked extremely well from home and the preparation of the new 2020.2 data release, as well as cooperation with member countries and licensees regarding addressing services, is progressing smoothly.

We are fortunate to be in the position to work effectively and efficiently from home and we wish everyone continued health and safety during this challenging time.
